Rabbit's Goodnight Kiss
by Katharina E. Volk and Sarah Dietz

26 pages
190 x 190 mm
October 2025

A sweet board picture book to read aloud and join in with, for children aged 2+

The perfect book for bedtime thanks to the repeated kiss motif

Katharina E. Volk is the successful author of the WILMA WALNUT series (over 20,000 copies sold)

What's better than a goodnight kiss? –
Two goodnight kisses!

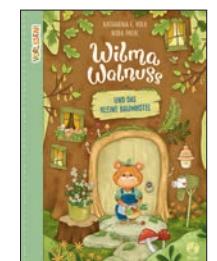

The little rabbit can't sleep! His mummy has already given him a goodnight kiss, but he needs another one. So he goes hopping off to find his friends and ask them for a goodnight kiss. But the pig's kiss is too noisy, the spiky hedgehog's kiss is too prickly, the slobbery dog's kiss is too tickly, and the butterfly's kiss is so soft he can't even feel it. The little rabbit has searched far and wide, but he still can't find a goodnight kiss that feels just right. Can you help him?

Mister O'Lui and the Best Present in the World
by Silke Siefer
26 pages
190 x 190 mm
September 2025

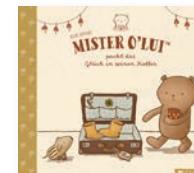

A sweet story about the really important gifts in life: friends!

An interactive picture book in board book format, featuring rhyming text to join in with – ideal for very young children

The best present: finding friends and celebrating together

Mr O'Lui and his friends are throwing a party. And at this party there will be presents for everyone! The little beaver-bear is very excited, and thinks hard about what to get for everyone. He wants his friends to have the best presents in the world. So Rupert the wild boar gets a ball, Arthur the lion gets a drum and Olivia the giraffe gets a scarf. But was any of these the best present in the world? And what would make Mr O'Lui happiest? Find out together with the beaver-bear, and guess what the wrapped presents are – and what the best gift in the world might be.

250 x 250 mm
September 2025

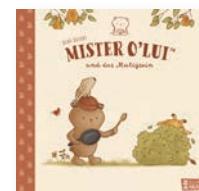

An enchanting picture book about values and the magic of Christmas

As the first snowflakes fall from the sky, beaver-bear Mister O'Lui starts to decorate the cottage for himself and his best friend Rupert. There are straw stars, candles and even a Christmas tree! Rupert can hardly believe his eyes because it's his very first Christmas. When he learns that there is also a wish list, he eagerly writes down one wish after another. Mr O'Lui also puts a wish in his stocking above the fireplace. But at Christmas, Mr O'Lui's stocking is empty, whereas Rupert has received many presents. The little pig has a guilty conscience. Is there perhaps more to Christmas than just the number of presents?

Smooch & Parsley – Easter Moose and Christmas Bunny
by Cornelia Boese and Christine Thau

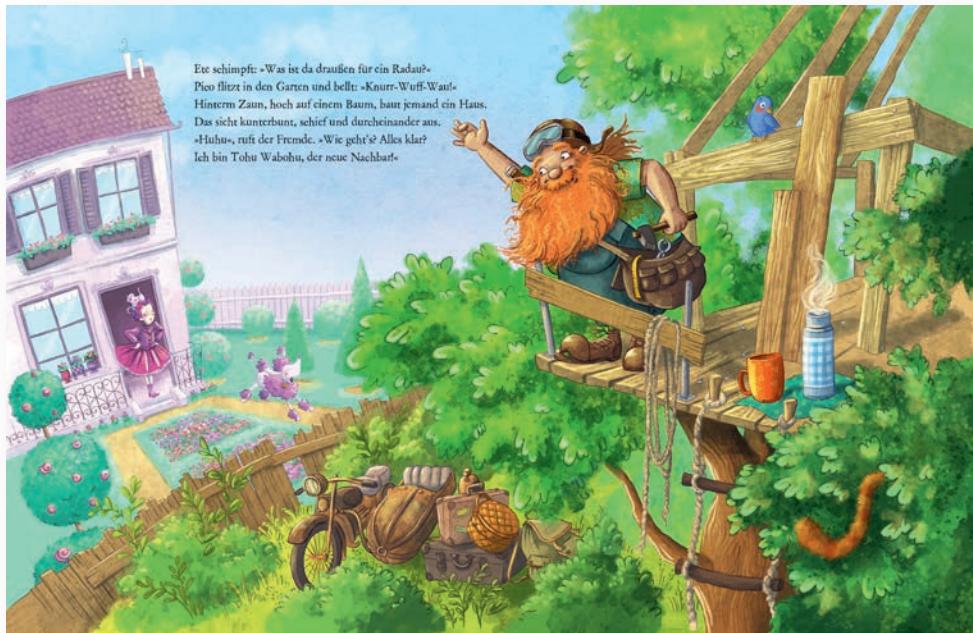

32 pages
250 x 250 mm
September 2025

An uplifting picture book about a hilarious role reversal, featuring two entertaining stories – a great read not only at Easter and Christmas, but all year round!

Strong message: be who you want to be!

Hilarious read-aloud fun – like Christmas and Easter come at once!

Smooch is a moose from a long line of Christmas bakers. For centuries his family have been baking Christmas cookies – biscuits with antlers, to be precise! But Smooch finds the family business terribly boring. Parsley the rabbit, meanwhile, comes from a family who've been painting colourful Easter eggs for generations. So dull, thinks Parsley. One day Smooch and Parsley meet, become friends and end up swapping jobs. Cornelia Boese tells this tongue-in-cheek story using funny and poetic rhymes. The result is a cheerful picture book about the Easter moose and the Christmas bunny, with the positive message that the route to happiness is finding where your talents lie.

Mrs Pernickety & Mr Hullabaloo – Opposites Attract
by Lissa Lehmenkühler and Julia Bierkandt
32 pages
240 x 300 mm
November 2025

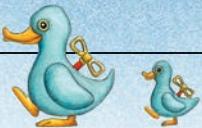

A picture book about tolerance and togetherness

This wonderfully riotous story shows that we need a little chaos to give life colour

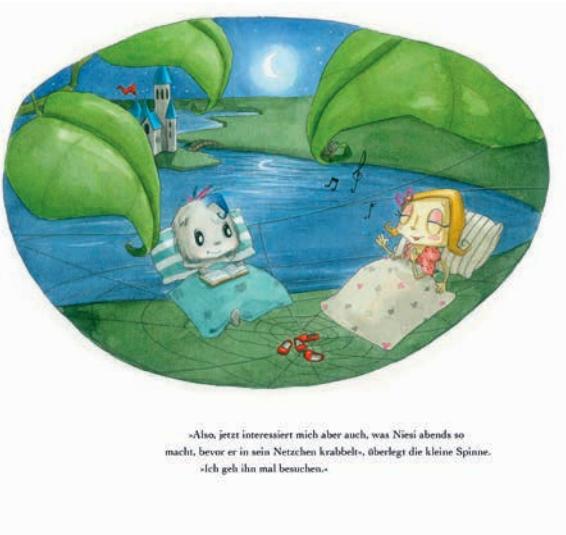

Chaos is better together

Mrs Pernickety lives with her immaculately groomed poodle Pico Bello in her immaculately well-kept villa. From rooftop to cellar the villa is neat as a pin and spotlessly clean. But then her new neighbours arrive. Mr Hullabaloo and his giant cat Ramba Zamba are loud and hairy, and leave a trail of chaos in their wake. They tumble over rosebushes, dig for pirate treasure in Mrs Pernickety's flowerbeds, and send cherry stones soaring into the sky. An almighty storm is brewing. One day Mrs Pernickety falls, scolding and cursing, into the hole, Mr Hullabaloo has dug – but luckily he's on hand to comfort her, and even asks her to dance a jig with him. Who could say no?

Die kleine Spinne Widerlich besucht Bella und Punki.
»Hallo Cousine, hallo Cousin«, begrüßt sie die beiden freundlich.
»Sagt mal, was macht ihr eigentlich abends, bevor ihr schlafen geht?«
Bella lächelt und sagt: »Am liebsten singe ich!«
»Oh ja, sie singt manchmal sogar Gutenachtlieder für mich«, grinst Punki. »Und ich erzähle ihr dafür dann eine Gutenachtgeschichte, fügt er stolz hinzu.
»Ui, dann ist bei euch abends ja richtig was los«, staunt die kleine Spinne.
»Ach was, nein ...«, lacht Bella. »Meistens sind wir schon ganz müde und schlafen schnell ein.«

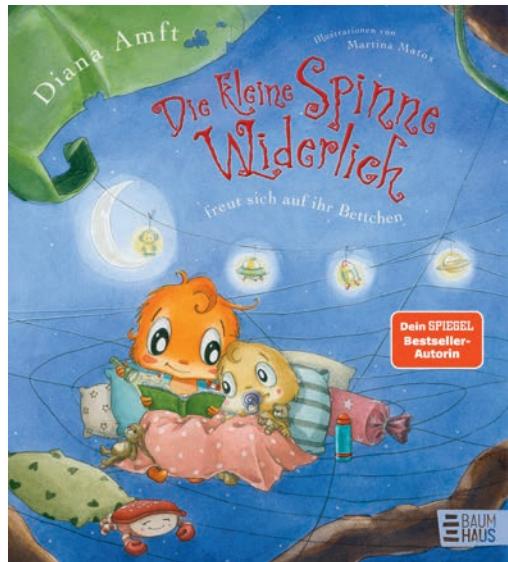

»Hallo, bester Freund«, begrüßt die kleine Spinne Nesi. »Gibt es eigentlich Besonderes, was du abends vor dem Einschlafen machst?«, fragt sie neugierig.
»Vor dem Einschlafiiiiiii...schlaaaa...hutschii!!!!«, fragt Nesi, und vor lauter Aufregung schießt ein kleiner Spinnfadenstrahl aus ihm heraus. »Oh ja, da unterhalte ich mich immer noch mit meinem Kuscheltier.
Sieh nur, das ist Waawau.«
Die kleine Spinne lächelt und fragt neugierig: »Und worüber redet ihr dann so?«
»Ach, eigentlich rede nur ich«, antwortet Nesi. »Meistens versuche ich es mit einem kleinen Reim.« Er denkt kurz nach, und sagt weiter: »Gestern Abend habe ich ihm zum Beispiel gesagt:

A collection of the best bedtime rituals in the form of a lovely story featuring Yucky the little spider

Sleep well, little Yucky!

“What do you do when you can’t sleep?” the little spider asks her mummy. Mummy tells her there are lots of bedtime rituals that can help you fall asleep. So the little spider sets out to ask her friends and family what they like to do at bedtime. She learns that Sneezy talks to her cuddly toy before bed, Bella likes lullabies and Punky enjoys bedtime stories. Auntie Ick drinks a cup of tea before going to bed, and Uncle Longlegs puts on his comfiest pyjamas. And what does the little spider need? A goodnight kiss from Mummy or Daddy!

On your marks, get set... go?

"Welcome to the Zoo Games!" cries the zookeeper. What are the Zoo Games, the animals wonder? Isn't it obvious? A sports competition for animals, of course! But taking part in the Games is not as easy as it sounds: Eddie the anteater accidentally runs the wrong way in the 100-metre sprint, Anton the elephant flings the shot put into the crowd instead of onto the field, and Cordula the koala gets stuck in her swim ring. The animals all agree: this is no fun at all. So Hugo Peppermint Hedgehog decides to change the rules: whoever comes last is the winner, and everyone gets to go up on the podium at the end. After all, the most important thing is taking part!

Lion Goes in Search of a Friend
by Lucy Astner and Pina Gertenbach

32 pages
250 x 250 mm
October 2025

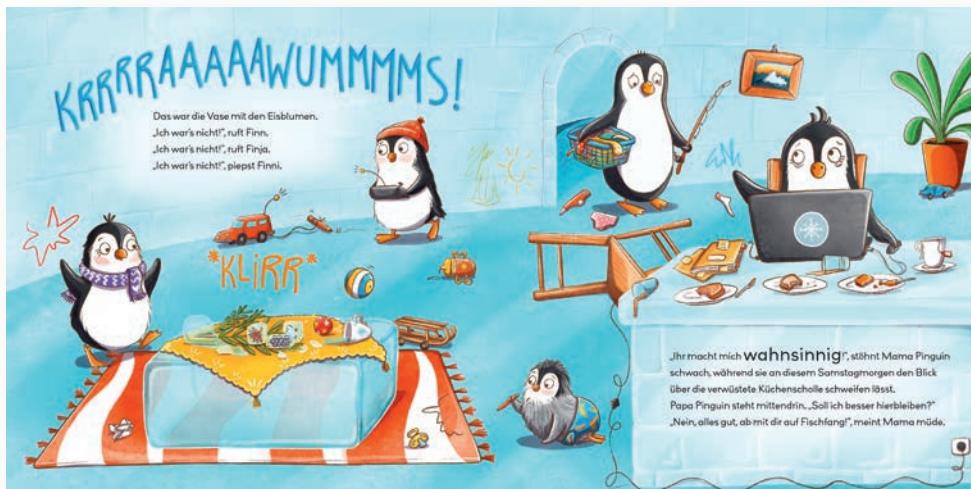

A new favourite picture book all about social interaction and empathy

In inimitable style, Lucy Astner tells a tongue-in-cheek story about how important and wonderful friends are Young readers are sure to want this loveable lion as a friend!

Lion is new to the area and looking for a friend. What was it his mummy always told him – be nice to everyone and show them your best side! But when Lion greets Zebra with a big toothy grin, it doesn't go down at all well. Dog and Squirrel are scared off by Lion's enthusiasm, too. So Lion reins it in a little, apologises, invites the other animals to a rollerskating party where he serves up vegetable soup – and finally manages to make friends! That evening, Lion realises he's learned two things in one day: that you don't always have to do everything perfectly as long as your heart is in the right place... and that mums are not always right!

A heartwarming picture book about the tumult of family life and affectionate moments of chaos

Mummy Penguin needs a break – but will she get one?

SMASH! The vase of frost flowers crashes to the ground. Mummy Penguin has work to do, but the three little penguins have other ideas, and won't stop romping about. Mummy Penguin decides to take a quick break. Surely she can manage to snatch a few moments of peace and quiet? When none of the children are looking, she seizes her chance and slips outside. Peace at last! How wonderful! But what was that? Her offspring are getting creative, determined to make sure their mum doesn't get bored during her break. With their funny songs, slushy ice creations and cuddle attacks, these little penguins certainly do know how to have a good time!

Der Biber sah entsetzt zum Hasen, dann drehte er sich um und wollte weggehen.

»Du kennst dich doch mit Wasser aus«, sagte der Hase.

Herr Hütchen fragte: »Und was hat das Eichhörnchen gemacht?«

Leise antwortete der Fuchs: »Es hat gesagt, ich bin nicht mehr sein Freund.« Er schniefte.

Herr Hütchen zog ein karriertes Taschentuch aus der Manteltasche und hielt es dem Fuchs vor die Nase, der geräuschvoll hineinschnauzte.

»Was für ein schlimmer Streit!«, fand Herr Hütchen. »Dann könnte ich auch nicht einschlafen.«

»Und nur das Eichhörnchen ist schuld! Warum muss es auch so angeben mit seinem doofen Kobel!«, sagte der Fuchs und lehnte sich an das Eichelmännchen.

»Bist du dir da ganz sicher?«, hakte Herr Hütchen nach.

»Ja ... äh ... schon ...«, stotterte der Fuchs, denn die Frage des Eichelmännchens verunsicherte ihn. »Also ... eigentlich ...«

Herr Hütchen legte den Arm um den Fuchs. »Wie würde es dir gehen, wenn jemand alles in den Bach wirft, was du mühsam gesammelt hast?«

Der Fuchs schlug beschämte die Augen nieder. »Ich wäre stinksauer, gab er zu. »Jetzt werde ich niemals einen Eichhörnchenkobel sehen!«

»Wieso nicht?«

»Weil ich keinen Freund mehr hab, der einen für mich baut«, sagte der Fuchs. Er schluchzte und vergrub die Nase tief im Taschentuch. Als er sie herauszog, hatte das Taschentuch ein Loch.

»Wenn etwas kaputt ist, muss man es reparieren«, sagte Herr Hütchen entschlossen und machte einen Knoten in das Taschentuch. Genau an der Stelle mit dem Loch. Dann trocknete er dem Fuchs mit dem Knoten die Tränen ab.

»Wie repariert man eine Freundschaft?«, wollte der Fuchs wissen. »Ich kann noch keinen Knoten.«

»Aber du kannst dich vertragen«, schlug das Eichelmännchen vor.

»Vertragen! Gute Idee!«, rief der Fuchs. »Wie geht das?«

Ein älterer Bruder meldete sich: »Hör bitte auf damit! Das stört!«

»Keine Sorge, der Schluckauf geht von allein wieder weg«, beruhigte Herr Hütchen.

»Aber wann?«, fragte das kleine Kaninchen. »So kann ich nicht schlafen. Hicks!«

»Ich auch nicht!«, riefen die anderen im Chor.

Herr Hütchen sagte: »Wenn der Schluckauf nicht von allein aufhört, wird man ihn mit einem Trick los. Man muss den Schluckaufinhaber ablenken.«

»Bin ich der Schluckaufinhaber?«, wollte das kleine Kaninchen wissen. »Hicks!«

»Natürlich!« Die anderen zuckten ungeduldig mit den Nasen.

Herr Hütchen wandte sich an das hicksende Kaninchen. »Du musst dich erschrecken, das lenkt dich vom Schluckauf ab, und er hört auf.«

Das kleine Kaninchen wartete und machte »Hicks«, mehr passierte nicht.

»Ich erschrecke mich aber nicht.« Plötzlich sprang Herr Hütchen auf und rief laut: »Buuuuh!«

School? – WITH July, obviously!

This year at our school we're doing a project on the theme of ANIMALS, and everyone's allowed to bring their pets in. Everyone apart from me and Anna, that is, because horses are banned in our school. (For some reason.) But unfortunately that's not our biggest problem. There's a chance Max won't be allowed to move up next year – so if our presentation for the project doesn't go well, we won't be in the same class any more. We HAVE to stop that from happening! Luckily we have something up our sleeves. At least we did, until the headmaster suggested a change of plan. And this new plan has one little snag: it requires our animals to cooperate. ALL of them...

September 2025

This fun book, lovingly designed by Nadine Reitz, features plenty of colourful pictures and limited text to help make learning to read fun

It features a funny and exciting story told using simple sentence structures and accessible vocabulary

24 magical chapters for every day of Advent

Twins Anni and Tim can't believe their eyes: a creature with tiny red gloves is pilfering their Christmas list! They usually always send it to Father Christmas by post... The twins are determined to track down the mysterious Christmas list thief. Eventually they catch him in the act and follow him through a magical portal to the North Pole. When they finally catch up with him, the twins find to their astonishment that the thief is a magical creature! He tells them why he took the Christmas lists, and that he desperately needs help. A fun story that breaks with the classic princess image

From our first reader series – exciting and funny stories with perfect text and illustration proportion

Who says princesses have to have good manners?

Holly von Stülpstorck-Torkelwitz is a real live princess! And the time has come for her to go to Swansneck Castle to learn all about charm, grace and good manners. But Holly fails miserably at all of these – as do her friends, Ernie and Betty. Together they set up the "Quirky Princesses Club" and cause all kinds of chaos in the once-orderly school: from squirty cream accidents to vomiting unicorns, they lurch from one disaster to the next. But when they're nearly thrown out of school, they come up with a plan. All it needs in order to succeed is a prince and a real live dragon...

Felina Foxglove and the Butterfly Effect (Vol.2)

Perfect for the whole family: humorous witch story with numerous illustrations by Phine Wolff

By the author of the SPIEGEL
bestseller HOTEL AMRBOSIA

Felina is over the moon: with her first Enchantment Examination coming up, she's bagged an internship at Patina Greenspan's Joke Shop and Emporium for Lucky Charms & Sorcery Supplies! If she does well, she'll be given her very own pointy hat and officially accepted into the Witches' Circle. At the Emporium, Felina can't believe her eyes when she meets magical employees like the snake-haired sales rep Medusa. But then Felina has a mishap with a magic mirror, and chaos breaks out. Will she be able to capture the spirit of the mirror with the help of Thundercloud the witch and Button the cat, and pass her Enchantment Exam?

wonderful protagonist and a breathtaking setting

The special combination of dark arts, botanical magic and mysterious puzzles sets the series apart from classic fantasy stories

The grand finale – an explosive mix of magic and suspense

Ivy is suspicious: why do the gardeners in the poison garden keep falling asleep, and why do so many people living near the magical gardens feel sick and faint? Are their dreams being stolen for the purposes of magical world domination? As the International Guild of Poison Gardeners meets at Thorn Castle to discuss the situation, Ivy decides to take matters into her own hands and go in search of the dark fairy who may be responsible to the enchantment. Together with her fox, Ivy ventures through the gate with the frozen blood-red roses into an enchanted wintry poison garden. But the secret that lies beneath the snow in this magical place ultimately forces her to make the most difficult decision of her life.
